During the voyage Emerson will be presenting the latest process management solutions designed to increase the efficiency, safety and profitability of your business.

As a leading supplier of systems and solutions for the process industry, Emerson understands the difficulties that operators, engineers and management face in production plants.

Emerson uses this knowledge and experience to develop new products utilizing the latest technologies that when incorporated into your process architecture will improve operational efficiency.

The voyage of Discovery provides a unique opportunity to see how Emerson's digital plant architecture, PlantWeb, will improve your business. The predictive intelligence will deliver meaningful, actionable information to the right person in time to make a difference. We can demonstrate that PlantWeb reduces the time for design, installation and commissioning of process control projects thereby reducing your financial risk.
